Claim Term or Phrase	Plaintiff's Proposed Construction	Defendant's Proposed Construction	Court's Final Construction
“are releasably supportable by and between two and only two of the mounts when the two mounts are aligned directly opposite one another and supported in spaced arrangement on respective frame portions of the sign”	No construction necessary; plain and ordinary meaning	This claim term is indefinite as it adds a method of use limitation to an apparatus claim.	Plain and ordinary meaning
“frictionally engage[-ing]”	No construction necessary; plain and ordinary meaning	The claim phrase “frictionally engage” (e.g., element A “frictionally engage[s]” element B) should be construed to mean that element A contacts element B such that it is a frictional force between elements A and B that retains the positions of elements A and B relative to each other.	Plain and ordinary meaning
“end cap[s]”	No construction necessary; plain and ordinary meaning	A fitting at an end of the elongate support member.	Plain and ordinary meaning
“engaging … in a non-conductive manner” / “nonelectrically engage”	No construction necessary; plain and ordinary meaning	Engaging without forming an electrically conductive path therebetween.	Plain and ordinary meaning
“electrically insulative material”	No construction necessary; plain and ordinary meaning	Any material having an electrical resistivity of $1.00 \times 10^9 \Omega \cdot \text{m}$ or more.	Plain and ordinary meaning

“gas-discharge [lamp] couplings”	No construction necessary; plain and ordinary meaning	Supports for a gas-discharge lamp having electrical conductors for supplying electricity to the gas-discharge lamp.	Plain and ordinary meaning
“replacement couplings”	No construction necessary; plain and ordinary meaning	Supports for a gas-discharge lamp or gas-discharge lamp lacking electrical conductors for supplying electricity to a gas-discharge.	Plain and ordinary meaning

On September 21, 2021, the Court also supplied the parties a preliminary construction for the phrase “the electrical lamp units” as plain and ordinary meaning. That same day, the parties stipulated that the phrase, as recited in dependent claims 9 and 10, refer to “the electrical lamp units of claim 1.” The Court, therefore, does not provide a final construction of this term.
